

submissions

From: Hugh & Anna [REDACTED]
Sent: Wednesday, 17 December 2014 10:42 AM
To: standards management
Subject: Submission.

Categories: [REDACTED]

Submission GE Corn Line MON87411.

Dear Chief GE scientist,

You will know my name well as I have been supplying you with material for the last three years on the toxicity of GE products to which you go on your merry way doing what you are told to do. You know that your methods are totally outdated. First you used to say that GE crops were substantially equivalent. When that was obviously rubbish you only look for foreign proteins. There is no effort to test for Glyphosate or Round Up content and the effects this has on our bodies, particularly children. Labelling is a farce in this country. There is no way you can go on saying there is no difference in GE foods and non GE foods. You are failing in your job and spending tax payers money for nothing. I sincerely hope one of you attend the GE symposium in Wellington in march. I can only say that I will continue sending you material to show all the problems of GE foods. You simply follow the USA FDA (the most corrupt and infiltrated food safety authority in the world) and the other western bloc countries, Canada and Great Britain. The EU is also the same but the European countries are generally against and GE products. Although it not your job to take note of the environmental disaster these crops are causing you fail in you duty to look at all the independent evidence fairly. Stop this game and start by stopping any new lines just to please Monsanto. The amount of material I have sent you in the last three years has not ever been taken into account. I strongly object to your methodology which is unscientific and biased to supporting the chemical companies. You must take into account the Round Up content in these foods as well as virus, bacteria and other contaminants. Hugh Halliday. www.declarenzge-gmfree.co.nz.