Dear Madam/Sir,

There are still many question being raised about genetically modified foods, they are far from proven to be safe.

The role of FSANZ is to protect consumers.
Consumers must have the opportunity to assess how their food is produced.

To this end I oppose any changes that hand the regulation of their product and assessment of their safety to the industry to self regulate.
It is obvious that they will regulate in their own interest, not the consumer's.

Please take your role as guardians of our food here in New Zealand and Australia seriously enough to at least ensure we have proper labeling.

Thank you.

Yours sincerely,
