To whom it may concern,

I have questions about proposed changes to the Food Code that would allow a wide range of GM foods, made using novel methods that have little history of safe use, to be sold without safety assessment or labelling. This is bad not only for Australians but for people everywhere.

Agrochemical companies cannot be trusted to self-assess the safety of GM foods. FSANZ should not be relying on advice from scientists with conflicts of interest, and should take its regulatory responsibility more seriously.

Yours sincerely,
