To whom it may concern ,

On the 29th of August 2018 I answered to the Enviroment and Public Affaires committee in WA " Spurious, these gm goods may have been found to be safe but there is a vast community demand for products without GM.
Given this demand for no gm in our food the question is whether a federal (early stage) regulator can get it right ."
Clearly , 3years on , he did not

Australian Farmers supply this vast community demand for products that are guaranteed to be free of gmo's .
Farmers who have GM technology in their toolbox listen to the banks , big business and politicians with little or no regard for a vast number of consumers and generations of farmers who strive to feed their children and themselves properly labeled food.

Some of us believe GMO's are totally incompatible with our combined biota .
We would be happy to see you stuff gm in a box and return to sender .
